Why Collect Data?

To support evidence-informed decision-making:

- Help grantees identify areas of success and areas for improvement
- Aid system-level decision-making

Data We Collect

From Grantees:

- Evidence-based Programming and Outcomes
 - Enrollment, session, and exit information
- Describing Population Served
 - Basic participant demographics
 - Home environment, education, case history, risk level, etc.

From DJJ:

- Out-of-home placements (short-term program admissions and felony commitments to DJJ)

Online Data Collection Tool

Step 1: create new participants to build your roster

Step 2: manage monthly participant information and enroll in services

Step 3: review data, save records, and submit monthly data
